PRESIDENT'S REPORT

At the April AGM meeting, our Committee was re-elected except for Alan Robison who chose to retire from his role as Secretary. Our new Secretary is Shayz Yuen, a new member who happily joined us in February. We are pleased too that Stefan Bock has joined our Committee.

As always when dowsing, I urge you to listen to your intuition, or inner voice. As you practice more, I believe you're more likely to "hear" or "know" the answers before your pendulum indicates the answer. I feel the ultimate aim is for us not to need our dowsing tools, to use deviceless dowsing.

Meanwhile, if you'd like to learn more about dowsing in a workshop situation, I will be running a Basic Dowsing Workshop on Saturday 4 July, 1.30pm-5pm, at Beaconsfield. Please let me know if you'd like to participate.

I hope you'll come along to the next meeting when Committee member Tony Hill will talk to us about "Water Awareness and Earth Energies". Tony will bring together many ideas he's gathered together, particularly during his recent exploration into Melbourne's catchment areas.

Remember too, a lot of interesting information is often shared over a cuppa during our afternoon tea break as people get together with like-minded people to share their stories. As a reminder also, we welcome your questions about dowsing at DSV meetings. There's always an opportunity after the break during question time. It's a great opportunity for everyone present to chip in and contribute.

Lyn Wood, President

OUR NEXT MEETING

For our next meeting on Sunday 21 June, DSV Committee member Tony Hill will present on "Water Awareness and Earth Energies". Tony is a physics teacher and our popular sound engineer. It's Tony who puts the professional polish to our DSV sound system, and records and publishes our speaker CDs for sale in the shop.

Tony Hill

Tony will talk about American dowser Raymon Grace's fantastic work in promoting a healthy awareness of water and share some of his techniques for improving water quality.

OUR LAST MEETING

After the formalities of the April AGM we were delighted to have DSV member, Chris Gerrett, present in an interview format with President, Lyn Wood. In response to Lyn's questions, Chris talked about her beginnings with dowsing and how after first using wires, she was led to a pendulum.

The day's presentation was enthusiastically received. Chris drew on her extensive knowledge about Australian bushranger and folk hero, Ned Kelly and "Ned Kelly country" in Victoria. She referenced the injustices against the Kelly family, and some of the atrocities suffered by local aboriginal tribes in earlier times, at the hands of the authorities.

Chris spoke about how much of that suffering can still be felt in the land and surrounds. She continues to dowse to remove the many layers of non-beneficial energy etc. with a view to clearing it from now and into the future, safely and appropriately.

Chris attributes her dowsing development to Raymon Grace, Joey Korn, David & Erina Cowan, Steve Richard's "Dreamtime Healing" as well as teachings by DSV Committee members, Lyn Wood and Heather Wilks.

TROPICAL CYCLONES

By DSV Life Member, Mick Moran

It was the passion of DSV Vice-President, Heather Wilks for the subject that piqued my interest about the possibilities of dowsing to influence weather. I wondered, is it possible for someone through intent to have an influence, and possibly alter the weather? My answer to this is, even now, that I'm not sure. But for me personally, an even more important question is, if it is possible, should we? If the weather patterns are normal, should we interfere with nature and change things?

It was in March 2015 that Tropical Cyclone (TC) Marcia was about to hit the coast of Northern Queensland near Yeppoon, which would also affect the larger city of Rockhampton. I wondered if it would be possible to make some kind of contact with a Tropical Cyclone, in this case Marcia. I wasn't sure how to go about this but I thought I'd try and make contact as I would for a person.

Recently the Weather Bureau predicted a storm with strong winds up my way. I didn't think much of it, as a storm unlike a cyclone is not a big deal. As I lay in bed and tuned in to the spirit of the storm, I had a very uncomfortable sensation in my body. So I checked the energy, which was at 40%. I then raised it to 100%, and this caused the sensations in my body to ease and I felt at peace. Did it make a difference?

I had no idea Mick had taken up weather dowsing until he sent me this welcome article, long after the events. I was so delighted! (I had also dowsed on the Qld tropical cyclones, though I missed TC Olwyn and the one for Vanuatu.) Mick, you take self-deprecation to a new level. Of course you made a difference! As I'm sure others did who I was in touch with dowsing so specifically. I am sure none of us would keep doing these things if there wasn't a knowing about making a difference. I suggest a joint project next, with as many hands-on dowsers as possible - to help bring relief to drought-stricken areas in Victoria, Queensland and other parts of Australia. Editor.

BOOK FUNDRAISER FOR NEPAL

By DSV member, Carly Pearce

My two eldest children, aged 6 and 7, have been so upset by Nepal's earthquakes that we are holding a book drive to raise funds for vital food and medical supplies. I'm delighted that the DSV Committee has agreed for me to ask members and visitors to contribute books at the next meeting on Sunday 21 June.

I will be at the meeting to collect your generously-donated books. If you have a number please bring them in a box. And, if you have a particularly large quantity I would appreciate you contacting me on 0407 041 749 to arrange to deliver them to me in Mill Park beforehand. Thank you so much for your support.
