PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The book drive arranged by Carly Pearce to raise funds for Nepal's earthquake victims was very well supported at our June meeting. A cash sum of $87 was generated and many books donated on the day. Carly was so grateful for the spirited support at the DSV.

Thanks to everyone involved. When we last heard, the efforts led by Carly and her children were on target to raise $1,000 for Nepal.

Meanwhile, I hope you're having a lovely time hibernating as much as possible through this Aussie winter. It's turned out to be so much colder than usual, so it seems a good opportunity for spending a bit more time reflecting and dowsing.

Whether it's personal dowsing for yourself, friends and family or working to ease unpleasant situations in the world, it can be so satisfying. There seems to be so much turmoil at the present and I keep hoping it will clear soon to make a more peaceful, balanced world. Scrambling, praying and/or visualising an intention to ease matters is always something we can do to help.

I'm happy to say my basic dowsing workshop last month has led to me scheduling an advanced one for Saturday 26 September. I'll cover more on dowsing a property for non-beneficial energy and changing it. If you'd like to participate, please let me know.

I look forward to seeing you on Sunday 23 August at our next DSV meeting.

Lyn Wood, President

It was a pleasure to surprise Committee Members, Lolita Gunning and Malcolm Davies with Life Membership at our June meeting.

OUR NEXT MEETING

For our next meeting on Sunday 23 August, DSV Committee member Tony Hill will present Part 2 in a welcome follow-up to his June presentation on "Water Awareness".

Tony will do a brief recap for anyone who couldn't make it in June. Then he'll plunge right into the practical work that time ran out for last time, including practical dowsing on samples of water from various parts of Melbourne.

OUR LAST MEETING

In Part 1 of his interesting presentation on "Water Awareness", Tony Hill discussed:

- the way we use and sometimes abuse water
- how we can easily take water for granted
- how Melbourne's use of water has grown and developed over the last 150 years
- the distribution of the water storage system around Melbourne
- the importance of our river and creek systems
- how as dowsers we can test for water quality
- how we can change the vitality of water with active dowsing.

A DIFFERENT APPROACH

By DSV Life Member, Mick Moran

Recently I tried a different approach to my healing technique after the name of a friend was mentioned in a phone conversation. A feeling of negativity came over me. Rose has been a friend for a very long time, and we have helped each other out with many things. Healings included.

Usually when I get a feeling like this it means the person in question is unwell. I found Rose's energy levels were only around 35%, and I believed she was receiving quite a lot of negative energies from someone. I checked out the person sending it and found those energy levels were even lower.

I believed it was a woman and that she was very stressed and depressed. Her vibrational levels were also out of whack. I did the necessary healing on her, fixing all the problems I could detect. According to my dowsing, all the stress and depression ceased, and the woman's vibrational levels returned to normal.

Rose told me she had felt better already and was sure things had returned to normal. She confirmed that the woman involved had a lot of health problems.

By solving the problem in this fashion, it might also have helped others that this woman was sending bad energy to. So I guess this was a win, win situation. (Thanks Mick for sharing your wonderful and innovative approach with its happy resolution. Ed.)

MAP DOWSING CHALLENGES

By DSV Committee Member, Stefan Bock

I learned about Map Dowsing from A few years ago, DSV Committee member Fred Ward.

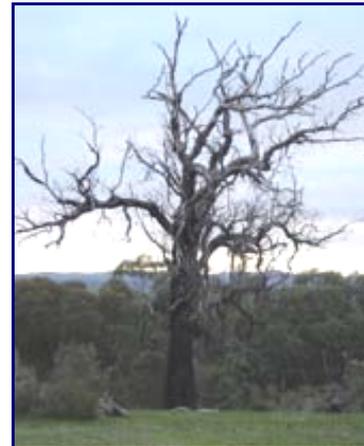

I'm suggesting two challenges to anyone who wants to test their Map dowsing skills. The first one can be confirmed, while the second would only be achieved by finding some evidence.

Challenge 1.

The tree pictured here is a very old Iron Bark that died about two years ago after struggling through the recent extended drought. My challenge to you is to find where it's located. As an extra curiosity, how old do you think the old Iron Bark tree might be?

Just to narrow things a bit, I will say that this tree is located between Seymour and Tooborac, to the south of the Puckapunyal Army Base.

Iron Bark Tree

Challenge 2

I am looking keen to find the grave of my grandfather, Stefan Leonidas Bock, who was born 3 February 1894 and is believed to have died at the end of the Warsaw Uprising in the capital city of Poland.

Stefan Leonidas Bock

He was last seen on the final day of the uprising on 30 September 1944. Reports were that he was either buried under a building in the northern part of Warsaw or that he may have attempted to escape by crossing the Vistula River, which runs through Warsaw.

I would really like to know whether there is any metal associated with his body or any other identifying items that can help to locate the place where he now rests. My sister and I are going to Poland at the end of August and thought it would be interesting to investigate where his last resting place might be. Any assistance you can provide would be very much appreciated!
