PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Fortunately, we were back in our usual hall in Mount Waverley for our last meeting. The refurbishments are quite fabulous.

Many, many thanks to Committee member, Stefan Bock, for transporting boxes of our gear back and forth this year. Also to Robert Griffiths for doing the same with the Library books. Thanks too to Lolita Gunning for helping Stefan for the August meeting. Stefan's car had been written off in an accident. Thankfully, Stefan wasn't in it or injured!!

There are still some more things to be done at the DSV venue.

Recently my husband Phil and I visited three homes which were open for Sustainable House Day. We've been visiting these places for years, getting tips on how to make our home more energy efficient. Because we've moved, instead of heading towards the city, we visited addresses in Warragul and up in the hills at Yarragon South. The people we met were so friendly. There were those who shared their homes for inspection for us to see what they'd done to stop draughts, to make their houses passive solar or other innovations. Also the people from the Alternative Technology Association (ATA) welcomed us and other members of the public, all of us wanting to learn how to put these things into practice in our own homes to reduce costs and save the environment. I suppose we all had a common purpose, to help the environment.

I hope to see you at our next meeting.

Lyn Wood, President

OUR NEXT MEETING

We are delighted to welcome Dr. Gurnam Saini as the next presenter to the DSV on Sunday 14 October. We especially thank DSV Member Mel Mitsios for introducing him to the DSV.

He will present on Ayurveda, the ancient medical system that works to achieve perfect balance between the mind, body and spirit. This balance is considered essential for leading a happy, healthy life. It is well accepted in many parts of the world, including Australia where it is widely embraced.

We look forward to seeing you at the DSV on Sunday 14 October for this fascinating presentation. Please come along with some of your friends.

OUR LAST MEETING

After the group scrambling on the weather, our Dowsing Panel was well received at the DSV August meeting. It's often interesting to hear different perspectives on dowsing and we had quite a diverse range of views, answering the questions from the floor.

It was great to have Chris Gerrett, Mick Moran and DSV Treasurer Malcolm Davies on a Panel for the first time. (Along with two of the usual suspects, Lyn Wood and Heather Wilks.)

TO MOVE A DRAGON

Thanks to Alanna Moore for this contribution. Alanna is a master dowser and author who helped found the NSW Dowsing Society in 1984. Alanna is a Member of the DSV. This article was originally published at www.geomantica.com

In Irish mythology one is warned time and time again not to build over, or otherwise disturb, any of the Fairy Pathways that criss-cross the landscape. These currents of Earth energy, that are favoured as the by-ways of fairies and other members of the devic realms, are likewise found the world over. In Chinese feng shui one should never 'tread on the tail of the dragon', and the Lung Mei / Dragon Lines (similar energy flows) are carefully avoided. But space is at a premium these days and many a dragon's tail gets trampled on.

AN INTERESTING WALK

Another welcome article from DSV Life Member, Mick Moran.

The night was a beauty. It was cool but clear, and there was little wind. The sun had set and the stars were just starting to emerge. A perfect night for a walk. It's one I've been doing every day for the past fifteen years. So walking in the dark didn't pose any risks.

When I reached the lake I noticed a willow tree that was bathed in the light of the street light. It cast some interesting shadows and looked very intriguing. I had my mobile phone in my pocket, I thought I'd take a few shots and see what happened.

Five weeks later I was looking at some of the photos on my computer, but what I saw next completely threw me.

The photo was very dull but you could still make out the tree. I had no idea what the white object near the centre of the photo was.

I had never seen anything like this before. I started asking a series of questions where I would get Yes/No answers. Some of the questions were, Is the white object in the photo a moth or some kind of flying insect? Is this caused by the street light? Is it an anomaly of the camera? Is it a bird? Is it a plane? Is it superman?

There was just one question where I got a Yes. The question was, "Is the white object in front of the tree a photograph of a?" What do you think it is?

HAVING A FRIENDLY CHAT

Thanks to Kathy and Richard King, DSV Members, for contributing again and making the Newsletter Editor's life easier!

We've been receiving intuitions and prompts for the past six months about talking to all sorts of things, including trees, rocks, cars, etc. If you're unsure, the best place to start is to ask simple questions of the pendulum. 'Was that an intuition I just received?'. 'Was that a prompt? Or, 'was it just a thought?'

By checking you'll learn quite quickly just how often you get these amazing forms of assistance.

ARE YOU OUR NEXT DSV NEWSLETTER EDITOR?

We are still actively seeking a new Editor to take over my role for the DSV Newsletter. No one has come forward to date to arrange an easy handover. I'm ready and waiting to hear!

Meanwhile, I've greatly appreciated receiving more contributions as it makes the role so much easier. So, I invite you to write something for the DSV Newsletter and send it to me by email: heather!ohnaturale.com (Ed.)
