PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Our previous meeting began with our AGM. I was again voted in as President and Heather Wilks became Vice President as Fred Ward chose to stand aside from the position. The Committee was returned with a new member, Malcolm Davies and Ruth Smith retired. I'd like to thank Fred in particular for his dedication in key DSV roles over so many years. We're all pleased he's agreed to stay on the Committee.

Thanks to Ruth for her contribution over the past year. And I'd like to welcome Malcolm who has kindly offered to assist our Treasurer, Pauline Abonizio. Thanks to everyone who attended the meeting and for the votes of confidence in all of us on the Committee.

I believe these are magical times and wonder if you have noticed that too? Since mid May I've had some amazing things happening in my life. There have been more spontaneous acts of generosity and kindness. I've had new clients contacting me seemingly from out of the blue and I received a wonderful testimonial without even asking. People seem to have been friendlier somehow and I've been feeling more confident. I feel certain some energies have changed for the better. I wonder how your own life has changed recently.

It's a good time to open ourselves to new possibilities. It seems as if we can manifest things more quickly now. What would you like to see in the world? Peace? Equality? Greater care for the environment? It helps to visualise these things as if they are already happening. A really practical way to contribute is by using your dowsing to scramble non-beneficial energies. Meditating and using intention to change your world can help too.

Even science is changing – with quantum physics helping to explain our new world. Things are not the same as they used to be. Maybe we don't like some of the new changes. Do we have to go along with all of them? I encourage all of us to step aside from our busy-ness and think about what's really needed in our lives.

Now seems the best time for us to really prepare for our new world.

Lyn Wood, President

Note: I'm running a Pendulum Workshop on 22 June. Come along if you'd like to learn more about changing frequencies and your world.

OUR NEXT MEETING

We're so pleased to announce that DSV Secretary, Alan Robison, is to give his first presentation at our next meeting on Sunday 16 June. Alan's topic is "Practical Dowsing from a Health Perspective" which will focus on his colour therapy work. This is a unique opportunity to discover a relatively unknown healing approach which relies on dowsing.

OUR LAST MEETING

Following the brief formalities of our AGM, at our last meeting Lyn Wood and Heather Wilks invited dowsing comments and questions from those attending.

There were some interesting ideas shared ranging from how to reverse the side effects of medication and how to get the best from medication and supplements - to the ideal way to choose an avocado from a large display.

It was a fun way to explore new approaches and hear about the confidence that so many have with their dowsing. The CD recording of this session is sure to be very popular!

NEW DSV EDITOR

Are you ready to become the new DSV Newsletter Editor? If you've been itching to make some changes here's your chance.

The job's still available! So, contact me today to let me know you're ready to take it on. I'm ready to help with the handover and will play a supporting role to get you going. Feel free to email me today, heather@ohnaturale.com

DOWSING JOURNEYS

Our regular interviewer Bernadette Hogan shares her own story on how she came to dowsing.

Bernadette Hogan - I had heard about men who looked for water by using a bit of wire, but it wasn't until I saw a pamphlet in naturopath Bernadette Saulenier's waiting room that I realised dowsing had other uses. Bernadette suggested I come along to a DSV meeting. It took some time but out of curiosity I decided to go. Just as Mick Moran has said, I thought everyone looked quite normal - from earth and not outer space - so I decided to attend the next meeting.

INTERNATIONAL DOWSING DAY

On Saturday 5 May 2013 DSV President Lyn Wood met with three other dowsers at Jells Park for International Dowsing Day (IDD). This was the second year for IDD which was founded in honour of Hamish Miller, a well-known British dowser. The group dowsed for underground streams, ley lines and non-beneficial energy. Then they dowsed the aura of some trees and discovered that some of the trees weren't happy. There was some non-beneficial energy in the ground near them. It was clear that the area had been dug up and there was gravel on the ground. While the group didn't know what had been going on, they asked permission to heal it and then used their pendulums to transmute and heal the energy.

DOWSING MEDICATION

Another article by DSV Life Member, Mick Moran

Whether it be something as seemingly indestructible as a mountain, or something as delicate as a flower, with time, everything will deteriorate and breakdown. The mountain may become the sand on a beach and the flower will return to the soil from where it came. The human body of course is no exception to this rule. With time, things start to go wrong, and it also starts to deteriorate.

Recently I visited my doctor. I told him of my intention to lower the dose, with a view to eventually getting off the medication he had prescribed.

With the use of a pendulum and a dowsing chart, I checked to see how effectively my medication was working. The answer came back as 43%. I then dowsed to gauge the severity of the side effects of my medication. It showed as 35%. I was quite shocked by these results. The medication was causing me nearly as much harm as it was helping me. With these results I decided to see if dowsing could help improve things.

With the pendulum spinning I asked if the effectiveness of this medication could be increased to its highest level.

The next thought was whether the dowsing had helped. About two weeks later the problem slowly subsided until it finally stopped about another week later on. I rechecked to see how effective the medication was working. It came back at 100%. I also checked to see how severe the adverse side effects were. The answer was zero.

If you are in the position of having to take pharmaceutical medication - or even alternative remedies such as herbs or supplements - then dowsing like this may be a way of helping these things to work more effectively for you, with little to no side effects.
