

Next DSV meeting is on Sunday 27 November 2022

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Sometimes it can come as a happy surprise to realise that what you've said to a child or grandchild previously had been not only heard, but taken onboard.

I was delighted recently, when visiting my son and his family at their new house, for him to ask me to dowse his 3yo son's bedroom as the boy hadn't been sleeping well, and had even told his dad that there were goblins in his room. My dowsing didn't indicate any goblins in the house but when I moved on to the 8 yo's room, he had a game on his computer that had goblins. I told my grandson that the only goblins were on his brother's computer game.

Then on the day she turned 7, my grand daughter asked me to check her ensuite (lucky girl) because she'd heard banging noises coming from it.

I hope you will all join with our committee and other members at our last meeting for this year on Sunday 27 November at 1.45 for a 2.00 start. We are delighted to introduce Frances Peterson as our presenter. For only the second time in 30 years I won't be there as I will be at my husband's 70th birthday celebration. I hope you all have a wonderful time together sharing dowsing ideas and experiences.

On behalf of the Committee I'd like to wish you all a very Happy Christmas or Hanukkah, depending on your interests and faith. Hopefully everyone can celebrate in person with family or friends this year.

Lyn Wood, *President

OUR LAST MEETING

DSV Member Bronwyn Bain was a welcome new speaker at our October meeting. She was enthusiastically received by all and kept everyone amused by her many and varied anecdotes.

Bronwyn shared her experiences about exploring different facets of the earth and energy for about 20 years. She did a Masters Degree in Fine Art around the subject of the Earth Healing us and was a lecturer in Design at UNSW College of Fine Art and continues to paint and research.

Bronwyn spoke about different perspectives of a wide range of experts associated with Earth Healing. These include Tim Walter, Rory Duff, Hamish Miller, Jude Currivan and Adrian Inledon-Webber. Their information on the Earth and Consciousness all entwines.

She was extremely generous in sharing detailed references and links to the wide variety of information covered. If you'd like some details emailed to you, contact heather@ohnaturale.com

DOESN'T WHISPER, BUT HE DOES DOWSE

Thanks to DSV Life Member, Bev Ellison for this article by Barry Lichter, NZ racing editor.

With a little pendulum in one hand, and his other hand running over the horse, New Zealand trainer Geoff Dunn could be auditioning for a spot in a Harry Potter movie. But it's a ritual the Canterbury trainer performs every day and one he swears has helped his star horses Venus Serena and Tiger Tara.

His homemade pendulum – a short piece of string attached to a fishing sinker, is still. It wasn't the previous day, at Bulls, where the horses rested overnight on their float trip north from Christchurch, says Dunn.

WEATHER EXTREMES

*Revisiting the story of Mick Moran's Lake Learmonth in central Victoria, Australia.
Article by Heather Wilks, helped greatly by Mick.*

Back in 2009, Victoria, Australia's second-largest state was stuck in an ongoing, severe drought. At a DSV meeting I brightly suggested we all dowse on it. Yes, everyone agreed, but what to do! I had no specific ideas, but having just watched Raymon Grace's video "Blueprint for Freedom" at the time of its release I was fired up, believing we must be able to bring about changes. So I emailed Raymon. He kindly replied, letting me know that the Nature Spirits (NS) had left our state. He didn't know why such a thing had happened, but invited them back on our behalf. That was my first introduction to NS.

Raymon also encouraged me to get others to dowse on the weather and I embraced that enthusiastically. Many dowsers were involved. It rained five days later.

Meanwhile many of us are dowsing on the dire situation on Australia's east coast, these days without a lot of success. Some talk to the NS.

It's interesting, and disappointing that earlier, weather dowsing and chats with the NS had worked so reliably. For some reason the outcomes aren't as dependable these days. We're aware of interferences manmade and from other sources, known or unknown. It seems as though the rules have been changed. It's challenging but we keep on keeping on.

Knowing that Mick Moran's Lake Learmonth is in its best shape in years is something to be sincerely grateful for, in spite of all else happening weather-wise here.
